INTERNATIONAL INTERNET CONFERENCE for students aged 14+

During our last conference in 2002 more than 1,900 students from sixty countries discussed with six international experts about "Floods and Deserts", the possible consequences of an ongoing global warming in the 21st century.

Now we are going for the next Internet conference:

BORDERS AND DIVERSITY

(: Can we live together sustainably in a globalising world? :)

April 3, 2003

00:00 h to 24:00 h U.T.C.

► What is an Internet conference? Two thousand people from all over the world who meet for a conference can only do that at high costs and immense time consumption. An Internet conference allows live discussions over any distance at extremely low costs: the costs for your Internet access. Wherever you are in the world: Connect your computer to the Internet, surf to our website (which is <http://www.agenda21now.org>), click the conference-button, insert your user name and password (it will be sent to you before conference start if you have signed up on our website) and that's it! Join Agenda 21 NOW! and discuss with other students from all over the world! At any time on April 3, 2003, between 00:00 and 24:00 hours World Time!

► Borders and Diversity. There is still a true lot of borders in the world. Real borders between countries, but also borders in our heads. Although we are living together in the same world, maybe in the same town, maybe on two sides of a nearby border, we might have different nationalities, different languages, different skin colours, different religions, traditions, political opinions, ...

So how are we, how are you living together in this diversity? In the region, in the town where you live? With conflicts? Or in peace and justice? And what will it be tomorrow – how are we going to live together within thirty years from now? What should be done? Can we live together sustainably?

We'll try to virtually cross as many borders as needed to find out about this.
